My approach to this, having a page which creates the update file and then uploads it to the server (via ajax), is to have the "edit file" page upload the update file to the server, then have my client update his own copy. This works great when the file is a.txt or.csv, but it seems more difficult when I try to update a.tar.gz file (my client wants to have the update version of the file easily accessible). Does anyone have any suggestions on how I could do this? A: Download the.tar.gz file with PHP Extract the files Upload the extracted files to the server If you are using a tar archive, you could extract it to a temporary directory, chmod it and then upload it to the server. to the grace of God poured out by Jesus Christ our Savior. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your support and prayers during this past year. I am especially grateful for the strong faith and prayers of Bishop Kevin MacDonald, and the support, prayers, and website of Fr. John McIntyre at St. Thomas Aquinas. Let's grow in
